Dear Mr. Lea,

Jefferson County being a cooperating entity and a named holder of the Agricultural Conservation Easement described by Jefferson County document number 1304077, and as part of the ongoing enforcement action involving a structure and impervious surface outside the Farmstead Area of the covered land. The easement holders require the structure -documented on June 15th by both NRCS and Jefferson County- be removed from the Agricultural Area, as described and illustrated in both Exhibit A of the Easement and Exhibit B of the Baseline Documentation Report.

It is the decision of NRCS, DATCP and the Jefferson County Easement Commission that both the structure and associated impervious surface must be removed by October 1st, 2015. In addition, any structural alteration, relocation or construction must meet all Zoning ordinances and permitting.

Finally, it is a condition of the easement that the grantors of the easement contact Jefferson County or any other named easement holders prior to any structural improvements, building additions or other activity requiring the holder's approval.

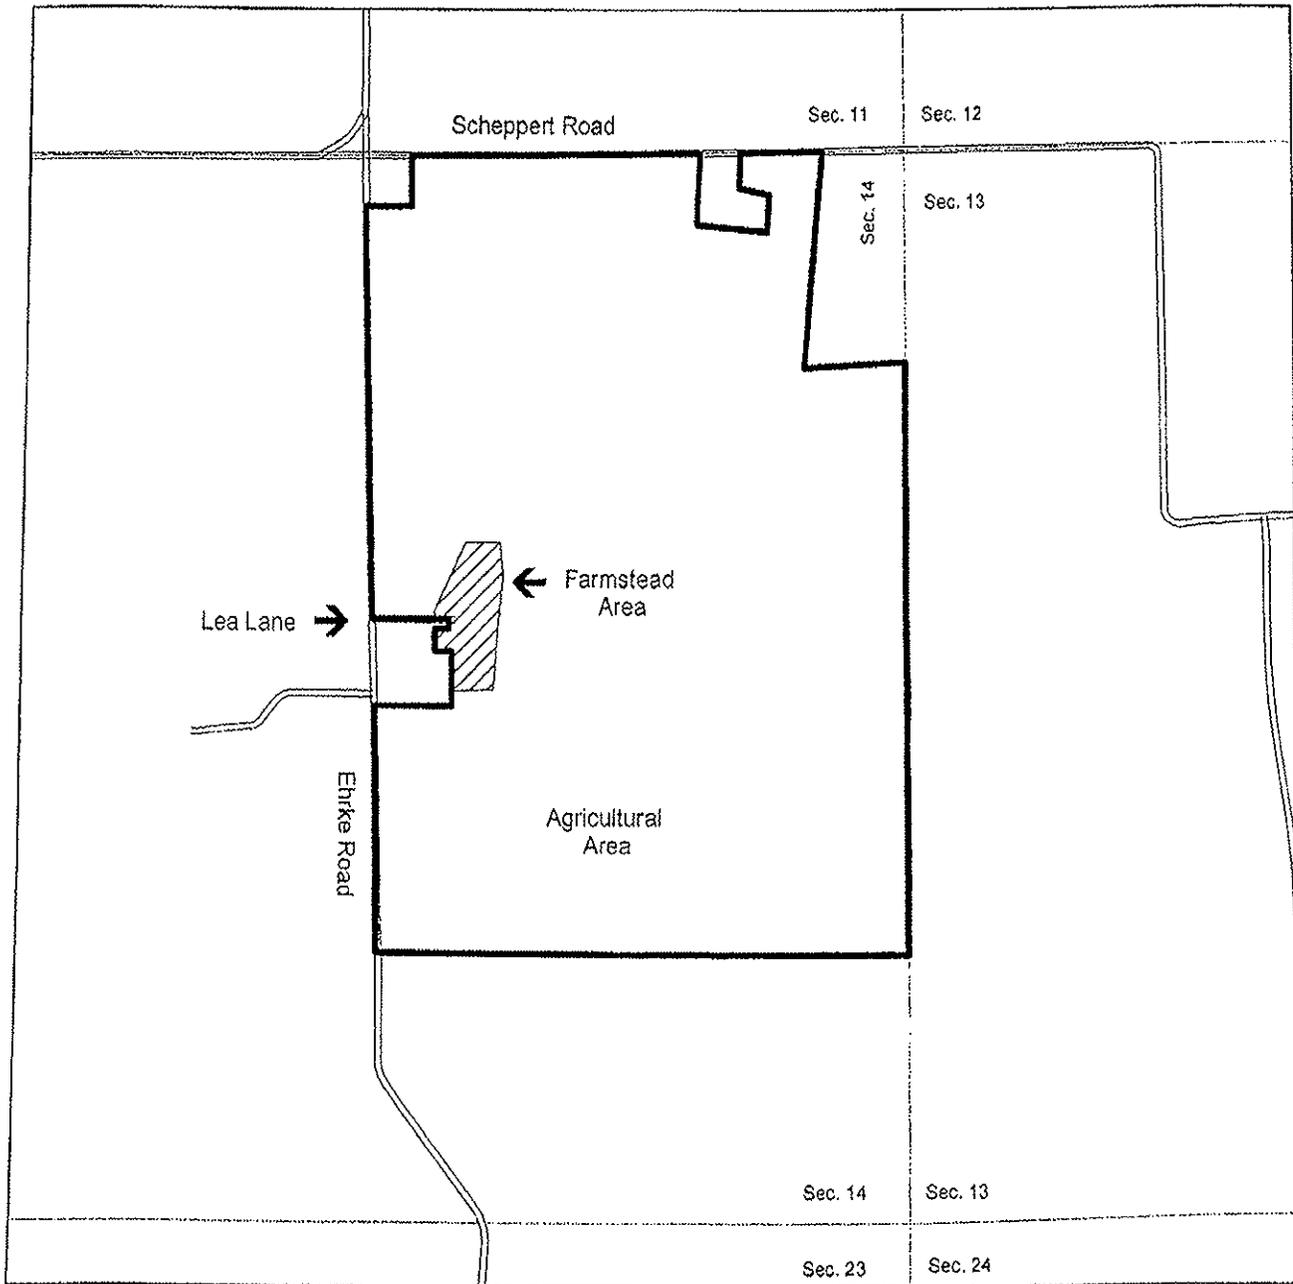

Sincerely,

Gerry Kokkonen

RE: Zoning/Land Use Permits for Agricultural Structures

The Land and Water Conservation Department sent a letter on behalf of the Jefferson County Farmland Conservation Easement Commission in regards to an agricultural structure which was placed on Rodell Lea Trust property. Section 11.03 of the Jefferson County Zoning Ordinances requires a Zoning/Land Use Permit for all structures whether they are temporary or permanent. If the agricultural structure is to be moved or remain in its present location, a Zoning/Land Use Permit must be granted from our office. With the Zoning/Land Use application, we would also need a site plan showing the location of the structure with setbacks from all property lines, roads, etc. Since this land does have a Jefferson County easement, we would consult with the Jefferson County Land and Water Conservation Department before issuing any such permit. We would also like the Farmland Conservation Easement Commission to be aware that in an A-1 Exclusive Agricultural zone, air strips and/or airplane hangars are not permitted. The landowner would need to rezone to A-2 Agricultural and Rural Business with a conditional use for public/semi-public use. If you have any questions regarding this issue or the Jefferson County Zoning Ordinances, please contact Rob Klotz, Director of Planning and Zoning or me at 920-674-8638.

Dear Mr. Lea,

As part of the ongoing process of evaluating the structure documented during the 2015 annual easement monitoring, we have provided a map depicting the surveyed area of the described farmstead on page 10 of the easement document. In addition this area is shown as Exhibit C Pre-Existing Uses & Structures of the easement document.

We are scheduling another discussion with DATCP and NRCS to further evaluate whether the easement will allow the structure. We will contact you shortly thereafter to forward any concluding information.

Finally, as a reminder it is a condition of the easement that you contact our office prior to any structural improvements or additions. It may be advisable to also consult the County Zoning Department for any permits they may require.

Sincerely,
