New Land Records Management System for Register of Deeds Office

Summary: Jefferson County Register of Deeds currently works off a home grown computer system; the system is unable to keep up with new technologies in an efficient manner. As great as our county programmers are, they do not have the time or expertise in land records and financials to customize a system utilizing the technology that is currently available to companies that specialize in land records management systems.

The Register of Deeds office has access to one time restricted funds to be used for land records modernization of the office. The fund balance in business unit 1002 is $139,972, currently these funds are budgeted for data conversion (521295), computer support (521296) and computer equipment (531303).

I have requested proposals from four Land Records vendors and received quotes from three of the four vendors. I recommend purchasing Fidar Technologies AVID Life Cycle program.

Quotes are listed below:

Fidar Technologies Avid Life Cycle	$75,500
TriMin Land Records Suite	$114,750
West Central Indexing	$105,200
GCS Software Inc.	No quote received – no longer supporting RODDirect

With any of the land records management systems there will be additional hardware costs of approximately $21,000.

Fidar Technologies annual maintenance fees are based on the number of documents we record. These fees include all updates, new and future products. Life Cycle also includes future migrations to the next land records platform at no additional charge.

The annual fee is projected to be $30,000 based off 2015 document count; this amount is already included in the $75,500 Life Cycle purchase price. My goal is to ease the maintenance fees into my budget over the next few years by paying part of the fees out of the remaining balance in business unit 1002 of approximately $42,000, utilizing some funds from the Land Records Modernization fees which are generated from each document the Register of Deeds Office records and through the tax levy.

The majority of Wisconsin Counties contract with Fidar Technologies for their land records management system and several counties have moved from the other vendors to Fidar because of their customer service and cutting edge technology.

I respectfully request your support at the February County Board meeting to authorize the purchase of Fidar Technologies Avid Life Cycle Land Records Management System for the Register of Deeds Office.
